POLITICAL APPOINTMENTS. Investigating Alleged Bribery Cases in New York City.

Investigating Alleged Bribery Cases in New York City.

New York, June 23d.—The State Senate Committee this morning heard the testimony of Richard Croker, the Tammany leader, in rebuttal of the sensational evidence given by his brother-in-law, Patrick McCann, some time ago, involving Mayor Grant and others. Croker declared that McCann's story, to the effect that the witness had $180,000 in his satchel to bribe the Aldermen to confirm Grant's appointment to the Commissionership of Public Works, was absolutely untrue in all particulars. No such sum was raised, nor had Grant raised $80,000, as alleged. The witness asked McCann about the rumor that $80,000 had been raised to keep Hubert O. Thompson in that position.

McCann referred him to Tom Adams, who said he knew nothing of it. Tammany was fighting the renomination of Thompson. This was in 1884. John Kelly was then alive and the boss of Tammany. Tammany's candidate was John McQuade. It was untrue that the witness was to get 10 cents per barrel on all cement used by the Department of Public Works if Grant was made the Commissioner. Grant, as the godfather of witness' daughter Flossie, on two occasions made her presents of $5,000. There was no previous understanding about it. It was invested in real estate for her benefit. The witness was not indebted to McCann, as alleged.

On cross-examination the old Tweed ring was brought up. A document was shown the witness, signed by a number of Aldermen, including Croker, in which they swore not to confirm anyone or pass any important bill without consulting Henry W. Genet and other Tammany leaders. One signature was cut out.

An objection was made to this testimony. Lawyer Ivins, for the prosecution, said that he proposed to show that the fag ends of politics in Tweed's time still rule New York politics. Recess.

After recess Ivins took up once more Mayor Grant's presents to Flossie Croker.

Recess.

After recess Ivins took up once more Mayor Grant's presents to Flossie Croker.

"Did the present create any surprise on your "part?" part?"
"Well, of course, I recognized the fact that Grant was doing a very generous action. Mrs. Croker took the envelope containing the money from Flossie and put it in the safe."
"Did you buy that safe?"
"No. It was bought for me by Mr. Flack."
Croker said he did not invest the money right away begages he owned some reserve.

Croker said he did not invest the money right away, because he owned some property which he was trying to sell, and he wanted to add this money to that the already had before buying any more property.

Senator McNaughton said the committee had no business inquiring in Croker's trusteeship of the money given by Grant to Miss Flossie Croker. At this reply to Ivins the Tammanyites applauded vigorously.

Croker declared that no tax was levied on any office-holder for election purposes. The expenses, however, in various districts were very heavy. Croker did not know what contributions had been made by Judge Bookstaver, Mayor Grant, Mayor Hewitt and other candidates.

Mrs. Croker was then put upon the stead She dates.

Mrs. Croker was then put upon the stand. She denied that she ever told McCann that Croker had gone to Europe and left her unprovided for; that she had ever said that Mayor Grant gave Flossie $25,000, or that she ever set up all night to guard $180,000 which had been raised to secure Grant's appointment as Commissioner Secure Grant's appointment as Commissioner Public Works. She said she put the money given little Flossie by Mayor Grant into the safe, and that it remained there until the property was bought.

SALVATOR AND TENNY. Match Race Between These Noted Horses Announced for To-morrow.

New York, June 23d.—There has not been in years so lively an interest in a race as now exists among the turfmen of New York in the great match of Wednesday to be run between salvator and Tenny. The sympathies of the local racing men are altogether with the latter horse. The event is looked upon as a duel between the crack representative of the California stables and the pet of the New York sports.

New Yorkers want badly to see California beaten. The money that was made on Salvator on Suburban day was chiefly made by Westerners. The New York men had faith in their own horse and backed their judgment. They have not altogether lost that faith, and there is certain to be a full quarter of a million change hands on the result of the race.

Matches are so seldom made on the turf that most turfmen were surprised at the readiness with which Builder. Horses Announced for To-morrow. matches are so seidom made on the turt that most turfmen were surprised at the readiness with which Pulsifer threw the gauntlet after Tenny's apparently conclusive defeat, and at Haggins equal alacrity in taking it up. The momentary inducement of $5,000 must have been an unimportant consideration to either of the gentlemen, for either Salvator or Tenny should win many times that amount before the In fact, the forthcoming struggle may impair the usefulness of both of them for some time to come. But Pulsifer thought that his colt was better than the Californian, and would not be satisfied of the contrary without one more trial. Haggin, after careful deliberation, concluded to grant his rival the coveted op-

Racing men are divided on the opinion as to who will win. Many New Yorkers who are most anxious the New York stable should win are betting on the California horse Still, Tenny has thousands of backers. A sporting man yesterday said: "Here's the vital question. How much better will Tenny run with only one horse to interfere with him than he did when trammeled by half a dozen other horses, who kept him from the rail in the early part of the race and forced him to go a longer route than his principal adversary? Did the ground that Tenny lost in the first six furlongs of the Suburban equal the three lengths he was beaten by Salvator at the finish?

"Pulsifer says that it did, and claims that had his horse secured the role in the Suburban had his horse secured the pole in the Suburban and followed it as Salvator did he could not

The Ventilation Fiend.

The winter is past and gone, and the world is at peace with the ventilation fiends that make life terrible. Ever since fresh air was invented has the earth been cursed with people who fancied themselves appointed to ladle out vast volumes of fresh but chilling air to nervous, timid, delicate people, who don't want a pint of

The ventilation idiot-who has not seen him? Who has not suffered at his pitiless hands? Who has not longed to kill him? He haunts the railway train and makes his dwelling in the church; he goes to the theater; he invades your office; he tramples upon the sanctity of your home, and wherever he goes he brings with him blasts from Greenland and theories from the stormy caves of Æolus. And he sweeps down upon you and your tranquil home like a tornado, and he overwhelms with fresh air until you want to suffocate

How you do hate him, the man whose hobby is ventilation. He dresses always in a manner peculiar to his tribe, does the fresh-air idiot. He wears two pairs of woolen stockings and heavy cork-sole shoes, two suits of flannel underwear, a chamois chest protector, a double-knit jacket, a woolen vest, a double breasted coat, lined pantaloons that weigh eighteen pounds, fur gloves and a seal-skin cap pulled down over his ears. Then he goes around bragging how he never wore an overcoat in his life. He bangs in upon you in your office.

"Whoop!" he cries, "what an oven!" and he leaves the door wide open and a torrent of icy wind rushes in and bathes your slippered feet in a chill that doesn't leave them for a week, after which he throws up all the windows. He sits down beside you in the railway car, and as soon as he sees you take off your overcoat, makes you sit next to the window, and then opens it upon you. He is the nuisance of nuisances.—Texas Siftings. He Was a Fighter. Colonel Candler of Georgia tells a good story of his first meeting with private Favor of the Southern Pacific.

San Francisco, June 23d.—In the case of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company vs. W. R. Wiggs and Simon Newman, in the United States Circuit Court, an opinion was rendered to-day by Judge Sawyer in favor of the complainant. This case was a bill in equity, seeking a decree declaring void and annulling a patent of the United States to a quarter section of land, claimed by the complainant as a part of the land granted to it to aid in the construction of its railroad, under the Act of Congress of July 27, 1866. The land lay outside of the 20-mile limit, and within the 30-mile limit fixed by the statute, being a portion of the land which the complainant was authorized to select to make up for any deficiency that might be found in the odd sections within the 20-mile limit by reason of a prior disposition thereof or the acquisition up for any deficiency that might be found in the odd sections within the 20-mile limit by reason of a prior disposition thereof or the acquisition of prior rights therein.

After the defendant complying with the provisions of the law and filing its map of definite location on January 3. 1863, respondent, Wiggs, filed in the Land Office at Stockton a preemption declaratory statement for the said land. Respondent's right to said land was affirmed by the Land Commissioneron January 22, 1882, and again affirmed by the Secretary of the Interior November 27, 1833. The Court holds that the Secretary acted upon a known and recognized state of facts, and drew an erroneous conclusion of law and gave the land to the respondent whereas he should have awarded to the complainant. He issued a patent to the respondent on land which he had no legal right, and the Court accordingly orders that a decree be issued for the complainant in pursuance of the prayer of the bill, adjudging respondent's title to be void, and annulling it; and that there be a perpetual injunction against his using it or setting up any claim of title or right under it, and that he convey to the complainant any right he may have or claim to have under it.

Highest of all in Leavening Power .- U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

A LOGICAL REPLY. The appeal of one of a so-called athletic club of San Francisco to the Attorneyofficer: "Let us go on with our slogging, and in the meantime we will make an agreed case with you, to go before the Supreme Court for the forfeiture of our more lepers from other places.

Coupled with these statements was one to the effect that Secrecharter or corporate rights. If it is de-Health Board, had notified Secretary termined that our charter is invalid, then Nichols that Sacramento was still indebted there is an end of the matter." The reply of General Johnson was, in plain English:

Dr. Nichols informs the Record-Union What has your charter, so-called, to do with your violation of the statute law of California? I do not care a rush light

Keep your charter, whatever that may be,

have no trouble with officials." The truth is, there never was a more cunningly devised trap laid to catch an official than that the club set for the lawyer. But how hollow the pretense that the athletic club was organized for a lawful purpose-to stimulate legitimate athletics. In what way has it done so? What exhibitions has it ever given that were not contests between hired bruisers, and how can such things stimulate physical culture among the people? Suppose the Courts should find that according to the articles of incorporation the club was organized for a lawful purpose, how could that finding affect in any way whatever the commission of unlawful acts under the auspices of the club? It is not the club the law is after-that may exist, if it can -but the crimes committed; they, say the officials, must cease. If the argument of the club officers presented to the Attorney-General is sound, then an organization for a lawful purpose may commit crime under its charter, or otherwise, at will and escape punishment. Suppose, for instance, that locksmiths form an association to promote their trade, but it develops that they are teaching the art of lock-picking and encouraging burglary, will their "charter" protect them?

It is evident that the old post-awnings that make Sacramento business streets look like old Mexican towns, one-half asleep and the other half not awake, are doomed-They are coming down in many sections of the city, and should all be razed to the ground. They are a menace to property because they cut off the approach of firemen. They are unsightly and narrow the street. They are not uniform in architecture, and resemble a parcel of independent cowsheds. They project the households affairs largely thou the public. because they cut off the approach of firehouseholds affairs largely upon the public Arrivals at the Capital Hotel yesterday: William Farrell, James F. Welch, M. E. G. attention, to the offending of good taste. They are insecure, as a rule, and are liable at any time by the collision of teams with the posts to be thrown down. They are a constant source of expense for painting and patching. They do afford a shelter from the sun, but not nearly so much as do rolling metal screens, that can be brought down much nearer to the sidewalks, and in Deeds to an instant can be put out of the way. The post-awning necessitates or rather invites the use of great sheets of duck cloth, suspended from its upper edges, which add still more to the unsightliness of the streets. The old-time wooden awnings are devices admirably adapted to communicate flames from one building to all in the block, since they are suction flues for the swift passage of fire. They are not needed at all on one side of every street, and as for the other, the folding or rolling screen is infinitely preferable on the score of economy and safety. Let them all come down, now that the good work has begun. It would not be a bad idea to condemn them en masse, with the order attached to remove them inside of six months.

In the preparation for the celebration of the Fourth of July, and the activity manifest in arranging for the reception of the Republican State Convention, we should not allow the approaching improvement | police, charging the gamins with petit larelection to drop out of sight. Keep it in mind that to win it must secure a twothirds vote. To have that, there must be hard work and energetic exertion on the part of all citizens who believe they owe the town in which they live good will and some free labor. Do not speak of it as a "bond election"-it is not, but an improvement ballot-a mere determination to borrow of the future a little, to do justice to the present effort to make Sacramento all it should be.

THE discovery of important papers in the baggage of the notorious woman Juliette, Boulanger's mistress, leaves no room for doubt concerning the unholy conspiracy in which the General was engaged. It is now made clear that he was dipping his hands into the public treasury to reward his mistress and that she was in all his councils concerning his political ambitions. The letters found show him to have had but one object, supreme control, and that the treasury of France would have been raided to the utmost to reward the vilest of beings. Boulanger's star has now set, and Frenchmen will blush at the mention of his name.

and obey the laws of the land and you will Concerning that Chinese leper. Secretary Nichols says there was an unnecessary sensation made over him. He visited him as soon as he learned of the man's presence here; found that he was a non-resident; that he had come here for medica treatment; that he was isolated, and that no person was endangered by his presence especially as it was a very mild case, the patient showing very slight symptoms of the disease. His purpose was to allow him to receive medical treatment where he was until proper means could be found for disposing of the case. But a scare was gotten up over the matter, and the patient taken to San Francisco and left there.

Secretary Nichols says he has no knowledge of the presence of any white leper in this city, and certainly has had no such communication with Secretary Hoesch as stated in the San Francisco paper. As re-gards the general health of the city, he says it was never better. The rate of mor-tality for this month bids fair, he says, to be the lowest ever recorded for Sacramento, which statistics show to be one of the healthiest cities in the world.

Carev an extension of time for the construction and completion of street railways on Third from K to Q; Seventh from K to H: H from Seventh to Tenth, thence north along Tenth to F, thence east along F to a point midway between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets.

Mayor Comstock said he believed Mr. Carey would have forfeited his contract to the city if there had not been such a severe winter, and he moved the passage of the ordinance. Trustee McLaughlin said as he understood the matter, Mr. Carey was to com-plete one-third of the road the first year, two-thirds the second year, and the re-mainder the third year. He understood how Mr. Carey might have been hampered on account of the severe weather last winter and believed he ought to be given an extension of time. However, he thought Mr. Carey might make up this year what he had not done last year. In other words, he could build two-thirds of the road this year and the remainder the following year.

Upon the suggestion of Trustee Wolf,
the matter was laid over for discussion till When the matter came up again Mr. McLaughlin said he was willing to vote for the ordinance by amending it so that one-third of the work shall be done the first year, and two-thirds the second year. He did not want to extend the franchise so as to cover three years from this date.

Mr. Wolf said he was in favor of such an amendment. Mr. Carey was entitled, he thought, to an extension of time for the mencement and construction of onethird of the work, but should do the other two-thirds the second year. There remains great deal of work to be done by Mr Carey this year in raising his O and H street tracks, and he thought it no more than right to extend the time for doing the first third of the new work.

The ordinance was amended gested and then passed. The election notice calling for an election on July 9th for the purpose of submitting the bond question to the people was ordered printed, and election officers SALOONS AND DANCE-HOUSES. City Attorney Hart read an ordinance prepared by him in regard to regulating saloons and dance-houses and places where spirituous liquors are sold. The ordinance was the same, with a few corrections, as read by the City Attorney at the meeting of the Board a week ago, the main points of which were published at the time. It was laid over one week.

STORAGE OF OIL. ETC. An ordinance in regard to the storage of explosives, oil and other combustibles presented by City Attorney Hart, was read the first time and laid over.

OBJECTING TO A CAR-TRACK. A petition was presented to the Board signed by property owners representing 1,640 front feet, asking that they take some action towards the removal of the track of the Central Street Railway Company on Eleventh street, from K to L; and on L street from Eleventh to Fifteenth street, for street, and willful neglect on the part of the | ble for its condition. company in not running their cars over the

A couple of citizens, who were present, asked the Board to continue lighting the lamps on the high masts at Twenty-first and O streets and Twenty-second and J. Mayor Comstock fovored doing so, but the Street Commissioner objected, and said it would break up the whole system to do it.

RAILEOAD FOR NINTH STREET. M. J. Dillman asked for a franchise to construct a street railway line from Ninth and I to Ninth and Y street, and thence to Tenth street. He proposed to operate the cars by electricity only, and would run them every fifteen minutes, from 6 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night. He wanted six months' time to begin and one year to complete the work. The reason he asked for six months' time in which to commence operations was that he might obtain some information as to how successful roads in the East, after which he pro posed to pattern, were being operated. Mr. Dillman said his was the pole system. The Board informed him that he would have to prepare a franchise and submit it.

MR. PIERCE WANTS DAMAGES. When the Board met in the afternoon Elwood Bruner appeared as counsel for Edward Pierce, who lives outside the city, and who claims that he is greatly inconvenienced and his property damaged by the condition of the Y-street levee at the Second-street crossing. Mr. Bruner presented a claim for $2,500 damages on be half of Mr. Pierce. He addressed the Board at some length on the subject of Mr. Pierce's injury in consequence of the alleged bad condition of the levee. On motion of Mr. Wolf, the claim was

WILL J STREET BE IMPROVED? A resolution of intention was presented by Trustee McLaughlin to improve J street, from Fourteenth to Thirty-first, accompanied by a motion to have the former one, covering from Fourteenth to Twenty-eighth, rescinded.

Philip Kitz appeared before the Board and argued against the graveling of J street beyond Twenty-eighth. He claimed that the street is now in fair condition for those two blocks, and that the improvement of I street, adjoining, would make the burden a heavy one on property owners whose lots fronted on both streets. He said they were willing to improve one street, but that two was too much in one

Mr. McLaughlin said that unless J street was improved clear through the propertyowners west of Twenty-eighth street would defeat the proposition. He would be satisfied to go to Twenty-eighth, but did not want to endanger the improvement of the street by excepting two blocks.

Mayor Comstock said that if plained to the property-owners west of Twenty eighth street they might consent to have the last two blocks excepted. Mr. McLaughlin said that if it went over the whole project would be defeated. The roll was called, and the resolution passed by the votes of Trustees McLaughlin and Wolf, the Mayor voting no. REMOVAL OF DEAD ANIMALS. Mr. Wolf moved that the contract for removing dead animals from the city be using all other remedies for rheumatism awarded to E. Grubbs, who had offered a without effect, my mother was cured by posed action. They said that if the Board wanted to advertise for bids for premiums to do the work it should do so.

Mr. McLaughlin moved to amend by laying the matter over one week and so amending the ordinance that bids for premiums could be received. Lost.

Mr. Wolf's motion to award the contract to E. Grubbs was then carried by the votes of the Mayor and Trustee Wolf.

toward the close of the session of the Trustees yesterday. The Mayor said he would not vote to pay any of the Ione company's bills until the $900 rebate was deducted. After a few remarks on the subject the matter was dropped. MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

Mayor Comstock said parties had complained to him that a horse, running loose near Fourth and M streets, was doing considerable damage to young trees. The attention of the Poundmaster will be directed to the nuisance.

The property owners on Ninth street withdrew their objection to having Tenth street graded and graveled.

NOT A BONANZA.

Police Court Clerk Duden Says He Doesn't Want the Place. For several weeks past a young man named Charles Jones has been acting as Police Court Clerk in place of E. F. Duden, but it appears he has no power of swearing persons to complaints. Duden, of course, had, but Jones being simply a substitute has not, and considerable inconvenience is an appearance for nearly two months, and says he does not intend to act in that capacity any more.

If this is the case it would appear no more than right that Mr. Duden should hand in his resignation, and that Mr. Jones or some one else be duly appointed. City Attorney Hart complains that persons are inconvenienced to no little extent, and says that the Clerk should be appointed with the power of swearing per

The roads are clear, the weather mild, the hotel prepared for its guests, and points from which it is desirable to have the school study free and easy of access—in short, everything is very favorable to the outing the school proposes to take.

Phenomenal Summer Weather. The Signal Service temperature at 5 A. M. and 5 P. M. yesterday was 58° and 72°, while the highest and lowest temperature was 77° and 56°. The wind was fresh from the southwest, and the sky cloudless.

The highest and lowest temperature one year ago yesterday was 96° and 58°, and one year ago to-day 92° and 60°. There was .05 of an inch of rain in San Francisco yesterday morning, and at other points along the coast north of that city.

this fall as a trotter. Where Are the Constables?

He could make the rounds of the boxes, test them and see that they are in constant good condition, and at the same time blow out every fire-plug on the route. In this way two notably defective systems could be straightened out, and the gain to the property-owners, through quick and accurate work of the department, would pay this increased salary a hundred times over. A Full Explanation of Secretary Blaine's Position.

WASHINGTON, June 23d.—Hon. Wm. E. Curtis, correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, and Blaine's confidant, sends to his paper the following statement concerning Blaine's views on McKinley's bill:

"There is no reason why the emphatic expression of Blaine in the Senate Committee on Application of the Senate Committee on Application of the Senate Committee on Applications of the Senate Committee on Application of the Senate Committee on Application of the Senate Committee on Applications of the Senate Committee of the Senate Committee on Applications of the Senate Committee of the Senate Committee of the Senate Committee of the Senate Commi sion of Blaine in the Senate Committee on Appropriations the other day, concerning the tariff bill, should have caused any surprise to the Committee on Ways and Means, for he has been Committee on Ways and Meens, for he has been trying to impress that committee with the same views all winter while the bill was being formulated. He had repeated conferences with Messis. McKinley, Burrows, George, Dingley and the other Republican members, and in a most earnest manner protested against the placing of sugar on the free list without corresponding concessions from the sugar-growing countries, against the increase of duty on wool, which is our chief article of import from Chile and Argentine Republic, and against the Chile and Argentine Republic, and against the proposed duty on hides. He explained to the committee the International American Conference and efforts he was making to secure a reciprocity treaty with the Central and South American countries, as to the extent of the market for our manufactures and expressions. market for our manufactures and agricultural products. That could easily be done, he ex-plained, by offering in exchange the duties we charge on sugar and carpet wools, which are charge on sugar and carpet wools, which are not produced in this country.

"Mr. Blaine demonstrated to the committee that the removal of the duty on sugar was not going to relieve the former from the depression in prices. The farmer does not use raw sugar, but refined sugar, and the duty on the latter is increased by the McKinley bill. He would be even more at the mercy of the sugar trust or any other monopoly that might be established, for the domestic manufacturer of sugar would be in a position to increase the price of the re-fined article at any time he chooses, although fined article at any time he chooses, although he would get his raw material cheaper. The expectation of the benefit of this legislation upon the sugar manufacturers, as shown by the increase in value of sugar-trust certificates, which were quoted at 50 on the 10th of January, before the House committee took up the question of free sugar, and at 95 on May 21st, when the bill was reported to the Senate. But there has been no increase in the value of corn or wheat, or potatoes, or anything the farmer holds.

"Mr. Blaine endeavored to convince the com-"Mr. Blaine endeavored to convince the committee that if they wanted to do something to benefit the former they could do it best by providing him a profitable market for his surplus products. This was much more important than to cheapen the price of his sugar one cent per pound. A farmer's family uses a hundred pounds of sugar a year perhaps, on which the reduction would amount to $1. He could afford to sacrifice that, if the price of wheat, corn, and other agricultural products could be advanced even one cent a bushel. could be advanced even one cent a bushel. But by the negotiating of reciprocity treaties both objects wouldipe accomplished. The duty on sugar could be removed, and an enormous foreign demand for farm products secured. But the committee were obstinate. They had decided to put sugar on the free list and would not reconsider that determination.

"Mr. Blaine submitted to the committee informally an amendment to the tariff bill similar to that introduced in the Senate by Mr. Hale, with resignment to Begidner to deale the reserve authorizing the President to declare the ports of the United States free to the sugar of any nation that removed the duties on our food pro-ducts, but Mr. McKinley was the only one of the Republicans who would agree to it. The remainder objected to it because it would com-plicate metters.

about the 'scene' in the Appropriation Commit-tee's room the other day should not be related. I happened to be a witness, and the circumstances were these:
"Mr. Blaine was explaining to the sub-committee the necessity of making an appropriation to carry into effect the recommendations of the International Conference. Mr. Hale inquired what results were to be expected. Wherenpon Mr. Blaine, with an impetuousness that is characteristic of him, declared that if sugar was placed upon the free list the greatest result sought for and expected from the International Conference would be sacrificed. He declared that it would be a most inexcusable piece of folly the Republicar party was ever guilty of, and that the leaders in Congress would realize it before many months, and o carry into effect the recon realize it before many months, and that if he was in the Senate he would fight it to the best of his ability. He spoke with great earnestness, and said he would give two years of his life for two hours on the floor of the Senate when the sugar schedule was under consideration. Entry will. schedule was under consideration. Forty millions of people, he said, had expressed their willingness to admit our food products free if we could take the duty off their sugar, and in the face of that proposition our Congress proposes to put sugar on the free list without asking any concession in return. any concession in return. Mr. Blaine has created a tremendous sensation by the boldness with which he attacked the policy of the party of which he has been a leader so long, and if he were on the floor of the Senate or House, where he could have an opportunity of debate and parliamentary privileges, there would be no doubt as to the result. If the present policy is pursued it will be against the advice of the President. Secretary of State, and the leading Republican newspapers."

are to arrive the foundrymen do not choose to tell, so as to avoid collision with the strikers. R. S. Moore, Superintendent of the Risdon, said this morning that he did not know what disposition would be yet made of the expected men.

"We do not need any men here," he said, "as our shop is full; but we will provide for the new comers. The man who arrived this morning came here on the representation of some of his friends who are working in the shop. He gave the names of several more who are first class molders and who are anxious to come to San Francisco. Another of the strikers went into the Fulton Iron Works this morning, and two more went into the Occidental last week. The molders are getting tired of living on promises, and are beginning to look for something more substantial. The chances for the strikers getting back to work are becoming slimmer each day. In the first place, the report is not true; but if the Union Iron Works should be stuck on any of its work our shop or a number of others can do the work for them." At the molders' headquarters it was de nied that three men had returned to work. The man who had gone to the Fulton was named Flinker.

President Valentine looked over the anion's books and found that Flinker was a suspended member. He said that he had been in some trouble, he could not remem-ber exactly what, at the time, but he thought it was regarding property, and at any rate he said he complained of being in sore distress on account of being out of work, and as he was represented to the molders as a man worthy of relief, a sum of money was donated to him. Since then he has not been seen about the molders' headquarters, and it was reported that he was working in Oakland. "There has been no desertion from the ranks," said the President, "and I emphatically deny that any of our men have gone to work in the Occidental or any other foundry. I will give a $20 piece for every man that can be found working in the shops who belongs to our union.'

SUPREME COURT.

The following Supreme Court opinions were filed yesterday in the office of J. S. Williams, clerk for the Sacramento district:

The People vs. Harrison et al.—This is an appeal from an order made vacating a judgmen on motion. The judgment was vacated by the Court below, the order was reversed in Depart ment one and a rehearing granted. The ground upon which it was sought to vacate the jud ent was that the summons was not person served on the defendant and was published without the affidavit for such publication re-quired by the State. The motion to vacate was made sixteen years after the judzmeut was rendered. The evidence shows that all of the papers in the original action, upon which the judgment was founded, were lost and the motion was attempted to be sustained on part of testimony alone. The Supreme Court reverses

The People vs. Blake—This case was heard in Department Two and affirmed. A rehearing was granted. The Court affirms the order.

"In May last, my youngest child, fourteen months old, began to have sores gather on its head and body. We applied various simple remedies without avail. The sores increased in number avail. and discharged copiously. A physician was called, but the sores continued to multiply until in a few months they nearly covered the child's head and body. At last we began the use of Ayer's Sar-saparilla. In a few days a marked change for the better was manifest. The sores assumed a more healthy condition the discharges were gradually dimin ished, and finally ceased altogether. The child is livelier, its skin is fresher, and its appetite better than we have observed for months."—Frank M. Griffin, Long Point, Texas. "The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla
